Dear Mr. Geary:

The French National Broadcasting Station has pleasure in acknowledging your report of June 4, 1943, which has been verified and found correct.

Enclosed is a schedule of all our broadcasts from this station at the present time. All future reports and helpful suggestions for the improvement of our programs will be greatly appreciated.

Your letter was sent on June 4th, that is one day after the creation of our Committee for National Liberation at Algiers. Since that time republican institutions have been restored to the French African Empire -- since that time also, the first French metropolitan territory, Corsica, has been liberated by the united action of French troops and Corsican patriots.

The Committee of Liberation has been recognized by the Allied Nations. This had a two-fold result of considerably strengthening the solidarity of the fighting people of France with her democratic allies -- and also of strengthening the effective coordination between the Committee of Liberation, and the patriotic army within the nation.

In the struggle of the past three years, Radio Brazzaville has made a considerable contribution to the French war effort, and one which has been acknowledged by the resistance leaders inside France over the clandestine post, "HONNEUR ET PATRIE".

Although we started out by broadcasting General de Gaulle's messages into France and by urging the population to resist the invader and to join the Fighting French forces, we have long since gone beyond that stage of our work. Today, our task is to keep the French people informed of public opinion in democratic countries, of Allied military successes and Axis defeats, and to launch the appeals of the Committee of Liberation to various sections of the population and faithfully describe its work for post-war France.

We thank you again for your encouraging letter which reaffirms once more our own conviction that our fight for liberty is, as it has always been, indivisible from that of the American people.

Sincerely,

M. Mariani
